Conference on Employment Opportunities Held at L. U.

Four hundred students from nineteen high schools attended the conference held at Langston University on Employment Opportunities for Negroes. Principals and high school seniors were invited to attend this conference, along with business men and prospective employers.

Major General C. E. Ryan, executive vice chairman, President's committee on Government contracts was consultant and advisor.

Perhaps no time in our history has it been more important that Negroes be encouraged to prepare themselves for skilled occupations. According to data released recently, approximately 7% of the whites have lost jobs during this recession period whereas 15% non-whites (Negroes) have lost their jobs. Much of this is due partly to the fact that it is much easier to lay off non-skilled workers.

I trust that our citizens of the state made this a banner day, that is, pioneered employment opportunities for Negroes.

Dr. G. Lamar Harrison

Faculty Women's Council Honors 49

Alpha Kappa Mu's Challenge to You

Alpha Kappa Mu's purpose and goals presents a challenge for you. Becoming a member does not present an end to attainment, but serves as a great step toward the end. Today we must select those who are qualified to hold important positions in our society; and that is where membership in Alpha Kappa Mu steps in and attempts to develop those potentials an individual possesses. Strive hard to obtain the necessary average to become a member, because today it is not where we are that counts, but in which direction we are moving. Are you moving upward? This is the "Challenge to you" offered by Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society.

I wish to leave this thought with you. If I were to give it a title I would say "The Way to Success." All of us want success, but how many of us are willing to pay the price? Don't want success, want preparation, and success will surely come; for she dwells in a house that's well prepared. You never knew success to live in a slum. Success is found at the highest echelon. She never descendeth low, but her stairways are built from the ground; steps which leads from every man's door. Fellow school mates "Get Preparation."

Miss Helen D. Gillespie performed in her senior recital last week in the I. W. Young Auditorium. She is from Tulsa, Oklahoma. Miss Gillespie not only plunks the piano, but she plays the clarinet in the concert band.

Langston U. Graduate Co-Authors Bulletin on Livestock Marketing

Victor B. Phillips, a Langston University graduate, who is now an agricultural economist in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has co-authored a recent USDA bulletin, "Market Outlets for Livestock Producers."

Sharing with Mr. Phillips in the authorship is his chief, Gerald Engleman, head of the livestock section of the Market Organization and Cost Branch.

The publication presents a brief resume of the development, growth, and change in pattern of livestock market outlets in the United States. The data show a decline in sales through terminal markets, and an increase in sales through auction markets and "country" for direct selling during the past 35 years.

Mr. Phillips, who joined the staff of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service in 1955, did his graduate work in agricultural economics at Oklahoma State University where he has completed residence requirements for a Ph.D. degree.

When you first entertained the thought of attending college it is reasonable to assume that you had no single reason for doing so. There are a multitude of reasons for one desiring to be among those who, upon completion of their high school course, begin making preparations to enter college. Without going into all of these reasons for coming to college, let us assume that the primary one is—to get an education. In order for you to get this education it is the obligation of the college to set up a program whereby you, the student, will have a series of opportunities to learn. Naturally the initial exposure is in the class room where you will come in contact with the fundamental necessities connected with the process of becoming educated. It is of utmost important that you recognize the fact that the classroom alone will not afford all the experiences which are essential to your growth and development. One of the most pertinent out-of-the-classroom experiences is—The Auditorium Assembly. One of our most glaring shortcomings is the extent to which we consistently fail to attend the assembly programs. Time after time your college has been embarrassed by the paltry few students in the audience. In addition to this, we are missing any number of very valuable experiences which go to make up the education process. It has often been said that there is something to be learned at every assembly, regardless of how good or mediocre it may be. Again—Why Are You Here?—Your answer is correct, to get an education. In order for you to get that education you must diligently plan to be at the scene where valuable information and procedures are placed at your disposal. From this point on, let us all be more concerned about the attendance at our assemblies.

Did You Know?

Well, I know that we fooled a whole lot of you didn't we? People who have been running around '89-ering it up, we hope you will do that good on your final exams. We will start with "Tag and Trick." First, Tag went home with the Sun Bird and came back with the Brown Breasted Robin (car). Then Trick went home to get his Black Road Hog and it was still too small to take Jimmie riding, and when it came to pass, she didn't want either one of them.

Just like "We" said the last time, some of the people out here I can't write about, but you had better believe that We can talk about them. This is where We start talking. They tell me that Mauslean Wilson is getting very popular with Clarence Adair, then I heard that she decided to let him go. Well, Miss Nellie Foust, where is that young man that used to come to see you in the red Oldsmobile? Did he just drop you all of a sudden, or were you a little too swift for him? Have you noticed in the Vet. Ville area, everybody and their roomie has a car. Some even have the nerve to own two. Before I go any further, Norman Wilson where did you get that girl you had the other night? She was queen—queen in your book. Fans, club members, and readers if you could have seen her, you would have "whooped."

Say, who is this I have been seeing with Lincoln Cooper. What about that Fatsy, Airlyne, and Mauslean? Which one will it be Lincoln?

Quotes From Student Teachers

A. C. RICHARDSON

My practice teaching experiences were most profitable and challenging.

I found that teaching is a profession where love, understanding, and sympathy play an important role. This is a profession where one is not always rewarded dividends at the conclusion of the day, but through profitable and enriched experiences your reward is secured.

My primary objective is to train and cultivate the minds of our youth in the building field of our economic system through industrial arts.

COETTA LOU BERRY

From my teaching experience at Faver High School, Guthrie, Oklahoma, I perceived much insight as to the actual working of the various educational processes that I have encountered as a student, especially, as a student of General and Specific Methods.

My experience was made more rich in progressive values with the aid and advice of my critic teacher, Mrs. Ruth Robinson, and the administration.

The organizations in which I participate are Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Kappa Delta Phi Honor Society, Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society, Social Science Club and Langston University band.

MR. ARELIUS HENSON

Mr. Arelius Henson, from Washington, D. C. My period of apprentice teaching was spent in teaching Physical Education and Sophomore Science at Booker T. Washington High School in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The experiences encountered throughout this period were both enjoyable and profitable. After spending this time with the faculty, and students of Booker T. Washington High School, I am thoroughly convinced that teaching is a full time occupation, which consumes your time both before and after the hours of the regular school day. With this in mind, I sincerely believe that it is a profession which should be entered into as a career only by those who have a sincere desire to give the greater portion of their time and interest to the guidance and development of young minds, or the students whom they teach.

LITA DUKE

My apprentice teaching was done at Faver High School, Guthrie, Oklahoma. I found it to be one of the most helpful experiences of my schooling, because it was a real experience which gave me a chance to put into actual use, the techniques I have been taught. I believe that teaching is a profession for which practice is needed and apprentice teaching is a necessity for those who plan to make teaching a career.

MISS CLAREECE CLARK

Miss Clareece Clark did her apprentice teaching at Faver High School, Guthrie, Oklahoma, under the supervision of Mrs. Priscilla Edgar. Miss Clark says that this experience wasn't one for fun, but was tops in giving valuable knowledge in the teaching profession.

Miss Clark is a member of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, F.T.A., Pan-Hellenic Council and Business Club. She plans to teach and further her education in the future.

JOHNNY WEST

Apprentice teaching is an experience that every future teacher should cherish, for they will never again witness such an occasion.

I received knowledge from my apprentice teaching that no individual could teach me in any class room. The experiences gathered from my practice teaching will always be one of my many guiding lights. The enlightenment shown me by this opportunity will always make me hold in my heart the greatness of a teacher's job.

I am sincerely grateful to Mr. H. C. Whitlow, Principle of Booker T. Washington High School, Tulsa, Oklahoma, Mr. W. H. Tibbs, Industrial Arts instructor, Booker T. High and the many other helpful instructors of Booker T. High.

Miss Airlyne Lee, from Muskogee, Oklahoma. My apprentice teaching was done at the Douglass High School, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. It was quite enjoyable and beneficial to me in that it helped me to realize many of the problems that must be dealt with by the teacher. In addition, I was made to realize that teaching is not only a service to the students, but a service of great value which is rendered to the community and nation as well.

WILBUR WALKER

Wilbur Walker, majoring in Instrumental Music, from Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Completed my apprentice teaching at Booker T. Washington High School, Tulsa, Oklahoma. I would like to say that it gives a future teacher some idea of what actually goes on in an every day teaching situation. I gained a lot of experience from my apprentice teaching.

LOUISE OSBORNE

My apprentice teaching at Page Elementary School, Guthrie, Oklahoma was a new learning experience. I have found that there is so much one does not know about teaching, and the knowledge can only be gained by doing.

I realize now that this was, the most important phase of my preparation for teaching.

MRS. SYLVIA MOSS CLAY

Mrs. Sylvia Moss Clay did her apprentice teaching at Manual Training High School, Muskogee, Oklahoma. In so many schools, discipline is the major factor; but not at Manual Training. The school is operated on a very good system. My critic teacher was Mrs. B. I. Jones. The students and faculty members helped me greatly. During the four week period, I received full co-operation in every endeavor.

I feel that this experience has benefited me for any future plans for teaching.

EULA FAYE MANNERS

While doing my apprentice teaching at Faver High School, Guthrie, Oklahoma, I was benefited a great deal. My students seemed so eager to learn. That helped me, because I knew then that I had their cooperation.

Mrs. Tipton was always present to help me and give helpful advice. I truly enjoyed the four week period of my apprentice teaching. This experience will help me become a good teacher. This and more credit is due to Faver High School of Guthrie, Oklahoma.

A Faculty for Fun

The professor, a sworn enemy of co-education, asserted: "It's impossible to teach a boy mathematics if there's a girl in the class." "Oh, come," objected someone, "surely there might be an exception to that." "There might be" snapped the professor, "But he wouldn't be worth teaching!" (The Reader's Digest)

Martha Moulder Dawson, a Business Education major from Guthrie, Oklahoma, has completed her apprentice teaching at F. D. Moon Jr. High School in Oklahoma City. She was under the supervision of Miss D. M. King.

Mrs. Dawson is a member of the Business Club, Kappa Delta Pi Honor Society and Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

Miss Velez Hayes did her apprentice teaching under the supervision of Mrs. L. T. Alexander. She taught the girls' physical education classes at Douglass High School, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Miss Hayes, is planning to teach and further her education in California. Without apprentice teaching I would not be able to cope with different situations. I enjoyed my apprentice teaching and the experience.

Mrs. Lucille Crutcher, from Muskogee, Oklahoma, did her apprentice teaching at Booker T. Washington High School, Tulsa, Oklahoma in Choral Music. My work extended from grade school through high school. My critic teacher was Mrs. Carrie B. Neeley.

I enjoyed my teaching experiences very much; which served as an inspiration in my future endeavor to become a teacher. May I take this opportunity to extend thanks and appreciation to the faculty of Booker T. Washington High School, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Want to Write for TV?

Ever think you would like to write for TV? Got an idea for a short story that demands writing?

Writer's Showcase is looking for you.

The new educational TV program will give you $1,000 for the privilege of producing your masterpiece on the air nationally. It is better than anything else that is submitted in any given month. Each TV script or short story submitted to Writer's Showcase will be reviewed by either a magazine editor or a professional TV critic. Constructive written criticism will be given plus suggestions for strengthening your chances of writing marketable material.

Editors of Writer's Showcase will judge entries on the basis of originality, characterization, plot, atmosphere, vitality, knowledge of TV studio stage directions and lingo will not be a determining factor. If you think you can write for TV, go to it, and let the production staff of Writer's Showcase worry about camera angles, microphones and dissolves.

Writer's Showcase goes on the air in September. The hour-long TV program will be broadcast over most of the nation's thirty educational TV studios from coast to coast.

Every month on alternate programs either the award-winning play will be produced or the award-winning short story will be read by a professional actor.

On each program the author of the best entry will receive an award of $1,000.

Writer's Showcase will also, with the author's approval, forward to appropriate publishing and television agencies all entries that the editors consider outstanding. In every case the authors of entries will retain all right to their entries and will receive the full sum of whatever the marketing of their entries might bring.

TV scripts should be written within a half-hour format. Short stories should be from 2500 to 4000 words.

During the hour-long educational TV programs the winning entry will be interviewed. Viewers will also be given a comprehensive look at what goes into producing a TV program. You will watch the cameramen in action and talk to the audio man who rides the mike boom. You will become aware of the problems and opportunities of lighting and shadows, and you will watch the director at this exacting job.

"The staff of editors, all of them professionals in their own field, look forward to uncovering exciting new talent," says James MacRae, director of Writer's Showcase. "There has never been anything like this program in either educational or commercial television. It will be the big chance surplus does not materialize the colleges and universities will have to raise fees to make up some of the difference. However, I am personally opposed to increased fees and I hope that the next legislature, as soon as they go in session will provide adequate money for higher education in order that the fees can again be lowered to the extent that the boys and girls who do not have money and are having to work their way through school will be able to attend."

Now, I will add this—I know that a school cannot operate without finance. But, if the tuition and other fees are increased at Langston University, it would make it very difficult, if not impossible, for many students to enter college, or those who are already here to remain.

I cannot quote the exact figure, but I believe I am safe in saying that more than fifty per cent of the students at Langston University are working, either part-time or full time.

It is my belief that unless the jobs paid the difference, it would be impossible for them to remain in school if the fees call for more money from home. Most of our families are in the low income group. If the majority of the students are struggling now, what could they do if the fees are raised? Well, I suppose that there would be those who would work a semester or a year before entering school. However, this would delay their educational achievements, which may result in the student losing the desire to attend college.

Local Alumni Chapter Ends Scholarship Drive

Scenes From the Benefit Dinner

Standing is Mr. Carl Jones who introduced Mrs. Cenoria Johnson. Below the students listened attentively.

The local chapter of Langston University Alumni Association scholarship drive was climaxed with a benefit dinner. Dr. Waldo E. Stephens, guest speaker, centered his talk around scholarship and leadership.

A competitive test administered by the University Testing Bureau is conducted in May for all high school seniors who wish to try for the award. The scholarship award is a tuition scholarship, which may be renewed each year by the recipient, if he maintains a "B" average and remains in good standing with the institution.

The third scholarship award will be given in September, 1958.

Men of Phi Psi Round Out Another Successful Year

The men of Phi Psi Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. round out another successful academic and history making year.

During the year, two of our brothers were nominated and accepted in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." The brothers to receive this honor for achievement were brothers Lafayette McKinney and Samuel H. Carter. Brother Lafayette McKinney also had the honor of joining brothers Samuel Carter and Theodore Lewis by being initiated into Alpha Kappa Mu, National Honor Society. Brother Carter is president of the Alpha Chi Chapter at Langston University.

The chapter also had the honor of seeing ten of its thirteen members names appear on the Dean's "Honor Roll."

One of our major projects for the year was the raising and presenting of our Annual Scholastic Award, that is given to the freshman male student who maintains the highest scholastic average for the first semester. This year, it was our pleasure and honor to present the award to Mr. James Rosser who earned an average of 3.80 for the first semester. Mr. Rosser is a native of East St. Louis, Illinois.

In keeping with the tradition of Omega, four neophytes were duly initiated across the "burning sands" into a land where "Friendship is Essential to the Soul."

These neophytes are: Brothers Floyd Fisher, Boswell, Oklahoma; Walter Dansby, Mounds, Oklahoma; William Lamey, Duncan, Oklahoma; Howard Brewer, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

The members of Phi Psi welcomed these brothers into the realms and felt sure that these men will play an active part in strengthening and developing the cause for Omega.

We sign out this year by extending a hardy wish for a successful academic school to all our Fellow-Greek organizations and student body at-large.

Sigma Notes

Well spring is here again and it seems as though the Sigmas are keeping up with the season; Smiling happily and busy.

The Southwestern Region of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. held its annual Regional Conference at Douglass High School in Oklahoma city, Oklahoma, April 4, 5, and 6. Beta Epsilon served as co-host and nearly all is members were present at the three day meeting. For the brothers who attended the conference was hard worked, enjoyable, and very educational. The states in the South eastern Region that were represented at the conference were: Tennessee, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, and Oklahoma.

The theme of the conference was "Integration versus Desegregation." The most interesting portion of the conference was the workshop in which two members of Beta Epsilon took an active part. Brother G. L. Buford and Sherman M. Harris were elected to the position of State Director and Regional Director of Bigger and Better Business, respectively.

Asked why he was going to marry a glamor girl from the city instead of some woman his own age, grandpappy opined: "I'd a heap rather smell perfume than liniment!"

Kappa Alpha Psi Reviews Past Year

Achievement has been the key word in the summing up the yearly activities of Alpha Pi Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi. We enjoyed a wholesome year with varied activities. We socialized, we contributed our share to campus life, we studied, and our business meetings were second to none.

We will be hard hit by graduation this May and the following brothers will venture into the world: Lewis Brown, Vallie Byrdson, Jerome Dickens, John Ervin, Aurelius Henson, Washington Jones, Robert Littlejohn, James Proctor, and Wilbur Walker. However, we will strive to carry on the good work of these men for the blazoned banner of Kappa Alpha Psi.

The Lions won the opener with a two-run rally in the last of the seventh as Britt Booker opened with a triple and scored on Frederick Todd's single.

Todd advanced to third on a walk and passed ball and tallied the winning run as Theopolis Williams smacked a line drive over the drawn in centerfield.

In the second game Rufus Anderson blanked Northeastern on two hits to post his second straight shut-out.

Did You Know?

Do you know what the freshmen girls call the upper class girls—after hour girls. Before 7 o'clock the upper-class girls don't stand a chance because they are too lame. But they just don't know what is really happening.

Did you know that Lucille Burton has taken over Mr. Elroy Lee since she returned for the second semester? Fast work Lucille—IT MUST BE LOVE.

Summer camp will be held May 21 to June 6, 1958 and representatives will participate from all the southwest district.

Mrs. Tommie Anderson, our area supervisor was on our campus April 29, 1958. Her purpose was to conduct a leadership conference.

Spring camp was held at "Camp Parthenia." Spring conference was conducted at this camp.

Election of new officers will be held soon. It will be wise for you to join the S.C.A. and run for one of these offices. Remember, the S.C.A. needs you, you need the S.C.A.

Anderson hooked that tall man from the town of Langston, and he can't move? Well I wonder what happened to Proctor and Fatsy? I guess he came to the conclusion that there was really no hope since Elbert blew in.

L.U. A. Cappella Choir Makes Tour

The ceremonial signal of the Spring and National Activities of the choir began on their own campus, Tuesday, April 1, 1958, 8:00 p. m., I. W. Young Auditorium, when they sang their Annual Spring Concert, before the critical ears of the State of Oklahoma and many visitors.

On Tuesday morning, April 8, 1958, the members of the Langston University A Cappella Singers, who have received ovation from coast to coast, gathered at historic Page Hall (the Fine Arts Building). The choir then proceeded to the President's home, sang the Alma Mater, and boarded one of the new M.K.&O. "chartered" air-ride cruisers.

The route changed from the West coast this year, and included such cities as Enid, Oklahoma; Springfield, Missouri; Kansas City, Kansas; Chicago, Illinois; Detroit, Michigan; Windsor, Canada; Wilberforce, Ohio; and Clarksville, Tennessee, April 8-24, 1958.

Under the direction of Dr. H. Edison Anderson, this well-known organization, composed of a personnel of thirty-eight that represents many departments and divisions of Langston University, sang a varied program of some of the best loved classics, romantic, operatic, and folk tunes. They carried their program, which was recently called balanced, dynamic, and flexible on their south-western tour, with a message of brotherhood, and good will and across twelve states and into the Dominion of Canada before returning to Langston University.

The following shows the listing of the personnel: Eula Manners, Lubbock, Texas; Patricia Taylor, Stringtown, Oklahoma; Gwendolyn Sharp, Luther, Oklahoma; Frances Reed, Los Angeles, California; Dorisella Jackson, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Christine Coleman, McAlester, Oklahoma; Juanita Pierson, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Gloria McCarty, Grant, Oklahoma; Lessie Fowler, McAlester, Oklahoma; Gwendolyn Porter, McAlester, Oklahoma; Marthann Perry, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Marion Young, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Maetta Brown, McAlester, Oklahoma; Thecla Brown, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Mary Lou Bryant, Amarillo, Texas; Lucille Crutcher, Muskogee, Oklahoma; Lucille Burton, Chickasha, Oklahoma; Ronald O'Neal, Lawton, Oklahoma; Lawrence Horn, Abilene, Texas; William Brown, Luther, Oklahoma; Nathaniel Roundtree, Florida; Richard Nealy, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Floyd Wiley, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Gilbert Tappkins, Spencer, Oklahoma; Billy Wiley, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Aurelius Clayton, McAlester, Oklahoma; Henry Dillard, Lawton, Oklahoma; Ray Johnson, Tulsa, Oklahoma; M. J. Atkinson, Langston, Oklahoma; Herbert Hagler, Lawton, Oklahoma; Dexter Reed, Ponca City, Oklahoma; Eddie Pryor, Memphis, Tennessee; Eural Littles, Chickasha, Oklahoma; Earl Perry, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Phillip Owens, Enid, Oklahoma; James McCarty, Detroit, Michigan.

While touring, the Choir had a library section on the bus. They visited many of the Educational and Industrial Plants along the way, as well as enjoyed a few of the recreational centers. Thus, while winning friends for Langston University, they enjoyed many panoramic changes of America, stored treasured memories that enriched their lives, and left many audiences marveling at the beauty of their art.

ANGER

Men are like steel. When they lose their temper they are worthless.

Here is one man's formula for success in Bureaucracy: "Shoot the bull, pass the buck, and make seven copies of everything."

Students Will Soon Start "Gold Rush"

Almost before the ink dries on final exam papers next month, college students by the hundreds of thousands will be going to work at full-time or vacation jobs.

Travel, adventure, profit and experience are the payoffs for ambitious students who join "The Great Summer Gold Rush," reports Don Murray in the May Reader's Digest.

For many, the summer jobs will be certain raisers to fulltime careers later. Scores of companies design vacation work programs as basic training for permanent post-graduation jobs. Such programs enable companies and student employees to get to know each other's personalities and potentials.

Money is the magnet which draws many of the tyros, and which makes resort jobs by far the most popular. Bell boys, "the aristocrats of student workers," can easily clear $1000 at a good resort. Waitresses average $600-$700 a season. Such jobs often amount to "paid vacations."

Foreign travel is a "bonus" collected by a few most fortunate students. For example: Alexander H. Ladd of Columbia University worked last summer as a grease monkey in a Mobilgas filling station—in Lagos, capital of Nigeria! Emory Brundy, University of Washington, spent his summer as a missionary in Yucatan, Mexico.

Others find their own back yards equally adventuresome—and profitable. Mary Sanders of Simmons College, Boston, for instance, made $1000 teaching neighborhood children to swim in her back yard pool.

Summer earnings are being put to excellent use. According to a U. S. Department of Education survey, students today are paying a greater part of their college education bill than their parents! Much of the cash that goes for tuition, room, board and "extra" is saved from summer salaries.

Almost every state boasts agencies to help young people find jobs. There are outstanding U. S. Employment Service programs in many states. The 3200 chapters of the Junior Chamber of Commerce run a "Jobs for Youth" campaign from the Chamber's Tulsa, Oklahoma headquarters. State and college employment services are frequently helpful.
